

HDPE Pipe and It's Various Applications

This workshop will progressively take the attendee from the history of High Density Polyethylene (HDPE) pipe through the various applications that it now serves today as a pressure delivery pipe throughout the water and wastewater industry. Attendees will receive training on safe and proper installation practices, joining of pipe and service line/lateral installations onto both new, as well as, existing pipelines. This session will progress to the point where each attendee, in a "hands on" manner, will be trained on each of the many connection processes, and actually perform each of these connection processes for themselves, using the fusion and electrowelding equipment designed specifically for this technology.

NYS DOH & DEC are expected to grant 6.0 contact hours toward recertification (No hours will be given for partial attendance)
